ESTIMATE

£2,000 – £4,000

SIZE

MATERIAL

Acrylic on paper, carrara marble, steel

The work of DAVID BUCKLEY incorporates modernist aesthetics, with the artist frequently employing strongly encoded high art materials such as bronze and marble with the more industrial such as steel and rubber. Conversely, the work The Rule, presented here, commands the viewer to question the fragility of such materials by balancing precariously a sheet of garishly painted paper upon a marble-topped plinth — at first glance the paper resembles sheet metal, it is only on closer inspection that the work reveals itself to be a lesson in illusions.
